Feel safe knowing exactly who's at your front door

K500 Series Video Door Phone

BOSCH
Invented for life

Easily identify & communicate with visitors at your door

Would you like to know who is at the door before you let them in? With the Bosch K500 Hands-free Video Door Phone you will. The Bosch K500 Series offers style and simplicity without compromising on security and features, so you can feel safe knowing who is at your front door at all times.

Hands-free Visitor Monitoring

The Bosch K500 Series Video Door Phone makes it easy for you to identify and communicate with visitors at your door. No more peering through windows and curtains trying to see if it's safe to answer the door! Visitors arriving at your front door or gate simply press a call button on the outdoor station, and the image appears on your indoor video monitor. It's automatic - you don't even have to press a button to see them! You can then talk to the visitor or release a door lock to allow them entry to your house (if your system is fitted with remote door release functionality). The K500 Video Door Phone features high quality video and audio transmission, so you can see and hear the visitor clearly, making it perfect for either your home or your office.

One or Two Way Communication

When a visitor presses the button on the outdoor camera station, the call signal rings the video monitor unit inside your home. The image of the visitor will then appear on the indoor monitor screen. You have the ability to just listen one way or have hands-free two way audio with the press of a single button. To let your visitor in, simply press the door release button on the monitor unit.

Expands with your Needs

The Bosch K500 Series can be expanded to include up to 2 outdoor camera stations*, which can be used for a front or side gate entry (the camera is IP33 rated), as well as your front door. Up to 4 indoor monitors* can be used with the system, so you can place one in the most commonly used areas of your home - upstairs, living spaces and the kitchen.

Added Security Features

Do you want to know who has been to your door while you have been out? The K500 Series gives you the ability to capture an image of the visitor when they press the call button on the outdoor station*. Up to 32 photos can be stored in the station's memory, so you will have a record of who has been to your home or office looking for you.

Simple Installation

The K500 Series Video Door Phone from Bosch is an easy two wire installation. The monitor unit comes with a wall mount plate and power supply. The black & white monitors use a flat type 4" CRT screen, while the colour monitors feature a 4" LCD screen to make viewing trouble-free. You can choose either a 1/3" black & white or colour camera for the outdoor unit. With infrared LED illumination, 380 lines resolution, and a 90° viewing angle lens, you can be assured the view of your entry will not be compromised.
